Commented [1]: We can add some pictures from the meeting and from the school

We're excited to share the highlights from the final meeting of the European PAL Lab Program, held in the vibrant city of Thessaloniki on September 26-27, 2024. This two-day gathering brought our dedicated program members together in a welcoming and collaborative setting, marking the culmination of our shared journey.

Day 1: Reviewing

Successes and Final Preparations

On the first day, September 26, the room was filled with a sense of camaraderie as we reflected on our achievements and discussed the final steps needed to bring the program to a close. Together, we explored the impact of our curriculum across partner countries, shared valuable insights, and fine-tuned plans to ensure the program's continued relevance. This meeting served as a vital milestone, allowing us to reflect on the impact of our efforts and fine-tune the remaining details as we approach the program's conclusion. Conversations flowed seamlessly, with attendees contributing invaluable insights on the curriculum's effect across our partner countries, innovative strategies for applying program outcomes, and plans to sustain our collective vision even after the project formally ends. The discussions reinforced the collaborative spirit that has been at the heart of the PAL Lab Program, sparking ideas for future initiatives and sustaining the connections we've built.

Day 2: Identifying and Finalising Unfinished Tasks

The second day, September 27, was dedicated to a comprehensive review of our work, where we identified any remaining tasks and addressed them with focused effort.

The day was a productive and collaborative one, as we worked together to revise each component of our work, paying close attention to detail. Through open discussions and shared insights, we identified areas that required additional focus, and by the end of the session, we successfully finalized every outstanding aspect of the program. This sense of accomplishment was a testament to the hard work and dedication of each participant and to the strong partnerships that have characterized the PAL Lab journey.

Our time together concluded with reflections on the progress we've made, the challenges we overcame, and the lasting impact we've created in fostering collaborative learning and shared educational innovation across Europe.

As we move forward, we are eager to share the outcomes and resources from the PAL Lab Program. These tools and insights will be available to educators and organizations across Europe, ensuring that the impact of our work endures and supports ongoing educational innovation.

Thank you for being a part of this remarkable journey, and stay tuned for more updates as we celebrate the completion of the European PAL Lab Program.
